Canada at a crossroads : boundaries, bridges, and laissez-faire racism in Indigenous-Settler relations

Toronto, ON : University of Toronto Press, 2020.

Subjects: Indigenous Peoples in Canada. Racism—Ontario—Rainy River (District). Rainy River (Ont. : District)—Race relations. Whites—Ontario—Rainy River (District)—Relations with Indians.

Summary: Drawing on group position theory, settler colonial studies, critical race theory, and Indigenous theorizing, this book emphasizes the social psychological barriers to transforming white settler ideologies and practices and working towards decolonization. After tracing settlers' sense of group superiority and entitlement to historical and ongoing colonial processes, the author illustrates how contemporary Indigenous and settler residents think about and relate to one another. He highlights how, despite often having close cross-group relationships, residents maintain conflicting perspectives on land, culture, history, and treaties, and Indigenous residents frequently experience interpersonal and systemic racism. The promise and pitfalls of commonly proposed solutions are discussed, including intergroup contact, education, apologies, and collective action, concluding that genuine reconciliation will require radical restructuring of Canadian society and perpetually fulfilling treaty responsibilities.

It's your body : you're in charge [DVD]

Place of publication : Aim Education, Inc., 2006.

Subjects: Child abuse—Prevention—Juvenile films. Child sexual abuse—Prevention—Juvenile films. Educational films.

Summary: Empower even the youngest children to feel that they have control over their own bodies. This program helps them differentiate between good and bad touches, learn that they have the right to say "no" to a touch that makes them feel uncomfortable, understand the "touching rule," and realize that if they experience a bad touch, they must speak up and tell an adult they trust what happened. From the comfort of a hug, to tickling that starts out as fun, but turns unpleasant, to the abusive touching of a private part of a child's body, this program will give youngsters the courage to protect themselves by speaking out. Teacher's guide PDF included on disc.

Lessons for education from COVID-19 : a policy maker's handbook for more resilient systems

Paris, France : OECD Publishing, 2020.

Subjects: Computer-assisted instruction. COVID-19 (Disease). Distance education. Educational leadership.

Summary: The COVID-19 pandemic has shaken long-accepted beliefs about education, showing that learning can occur anywhere, at any time, and that education systems are not too heavy to move. When surveyed in May 2020, only around one-fifth of OECD education systems aimed to reinstate the status quo. Policy makers must therefore maintain the momentum of collective emergency action to drive education into a new and better normal. This handbook provides practical guidance to support them to do just that. It presents the current state-of-play in over 40 education systems, and efforts to improve pedagogical practices in the midst of the pandemic. It proposes three key lessons and related policy pointers for the current academic term and beyond. Drawing on concrete examples of COVID-19 policy responses from primary to tertiary, as well as impactful pre-crisis policies, it addresses the policy areas of flexible learning, educator skills, and student equity.

Because of that crow

Markham, ON: Red Deer Press, 2020.

Subjects: Families—Juvenile fiction. Friendship—Juvenile fiction. Grief—Juvenile fiction. Loss (Psychology)—Juvenile fiction.

Summary: Ten-year-old Harris is still dealing with the death of his parents three years after the accident. To make matters worse, Grampa seems to be angry all the time; his older sister, Tessa only thinks about boys and his younger sister Pinky — well Pinky does what 3-year-olds do.

When Harris gets his new Grade 5 Science Fair assignment, it seems like an impossible task. And there will be consequences if Harris does not get it completed. But it is impossible to focus on the project. Then a mysterious crow flies into Harris's life and leads to him learning about memory and how it works. Will his new discoveries help him learn to cope with his past and carry on into his future?
