READERSHIP

The Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation Bulletin is both a print and digital magazine providing professional resources, stories from across the province, and up-to-date information on the education sector in Saskatchewan. Over 10,000 copies of the Bulletin are printed and distributed, which includes over 730 schools throughout Saskatchewan, and there are more than 15,000 subscribers to the digital version. The readership includes Federation members, superannuates, school trustees, provincial teacher organizations, libraries, college of education students and faculty, as well as federal and provincial politicians. The digital version is available publicly online.

POLICY

Space is available for advertisers of goods, services, or information of interest to Federation members that impact and support the education sector. Advertisements must relate to the mandate, objectives, programs and services of the Federation and its educational partners.

All advertisements are subject to approval of the Managing Director, Communications and Public Relations. The Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation reserves the right to reject any advertisement considered to conflict with the mandate of the Bulletin.

CANCELLATION

Advertisement(s) may not be cancelled after the applicable deadline date.

INVOICING AND PAYMENT

Invoices will be emailed with a copy of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation Bulletin following the publication of each issue. Payment must be submitted within 30 days. All overdue payments are subject to an interest charge of two percent. Accounts more than 90 days overdue will not be allowed to run further advertising until the total amount is paid in full.
